A family stone business in Alexandria since 1991

Wesha Stones for Marble & Granite is a family business that has worked Egyptian stone since 1991. Our factory is in the Abd El Kader manufacturing area of Alexandria, close to the ports we load from.

We select and buy blocks at the quarries, then cut, finish, pack and load them for export. Production runs on six Italian machines on a 10,000 m² site, 2,000 m² of it under roof, with a capacity of 110,000 m² per month. We have shipped to more than 30 countries.

We produce gang saw slabs, calibrated tiles (including 3 cm calibrated), steps, sills, kerbs, cobbles and cut-to-size work in polished, honed, brushed, antique, tumbled, sandblasted, flamed, bush-hammered and leathered finishes.

For the stone you select we arrange water absorption, flexural strength and abrasion tests at an accredited laboratory.

Surface finishes

The same block reads very differently depending on how the face is worked. Each stone page lists the finishes available for that stone. Flamed and bush-hammered finishes are for granite; ask for a physical sample before you commit a finish to a specification.

Polished

Ground and buffed to a mirror gloss. Deepens colour and reveals vein. The standard interior finish for marble and granite worktops, walls and floors.

Brushed

Abrasive brushes open the surface into a low, tactile texture while keeping the colour warm. Popular for floors and pool surrounds.

Tumbled

Rotated with abrasive to round the arrises and pit the face. Non-slip, rustic, and standard for external tiles and mosaics.

Flamed

An oxy torch spalls the surface, leaving a rough, highly non-slip face. Granite only — the thermal shock will damage marble.

Leathered

Brushed with fine diamond heads to a soft satin with subtle relief. Hides fingerprints and water marks — the preferred finish for dark granite worktops.

Honed

Ground flat and stopped short of gloss. Matt, soft underfoot, less slippery when wet, and far more forgiving of scratches than polished.

Antique / aged

Brushed and tumbled together to produce a worn, softened surface with eased edges. Used for period and traditional schemes.

Sandblasted

Abrasive blasting produces an even, fine-grained matt texture. Good slip resistance without the coarseness of bush-hammering.

Bush-hammered

Mechanically pitted with a hammered head. The most aggressive texture we produce, for ramps, stairs and heavy external traffic.

Formats and container loading

Blocks

Selected and squared blocks, typically 2.6 – 3.0 × 1.5 × 1.5 m. Sold by m³.

Tiles

Calibrated tiles 30×30, 30×60, 40×40, 60×60, 60×120 cm and free length, in 1 – 2 cm and 3 cm calibrated. Straight-cut or bevelled edges; back-mesh on request.

Steps and risers

Treads with bullnose, half-bullnose or eased edge, anti-slip grooves on request, with matching risers.

Kerbs and landscape

Granite kerbs, channels and edging for roads, paving and landscape work.

Mosaic

Mesh-mounted mosaic in square, hexagon, basketweave and herringbone patterns.

Gangsaw slabs

Full-size slabs in 2 cm and 3 cm. Marble typically 2.6 – 3.0 × 1.6 – 1.9 m. Bundled by block so the vein sequence is kept.

Cut-to-size

Worked to your drawings: worktops, vanity tops, cladding panels, mitres and cut-outs, supplied piece-marked to a setting-out plan.

Sills and thresholds

Window sills, copings and thresholds with drip groove, polished ends and mitred returns.

Cobbles and setts

Split or sawn granite cubes, 10×10 and 10×20 cm, loose or mesh-mounted.

Approximate loading per 20 ft container

Based on a 25 t payload and granite at about 2,750 kg/m³ including packing. Marble is slightly lighter. Figures are approximate – confirm against your port and road weight limits.

THICKNESS	APPROX. M² PER 20 FT
2 cm	≈ 420 m²
3 cm	≈ 280 m²
5 cm	≈ 168 m²
6 cm	≈ 140 m²
8 cm	≈ 105 m²
10 cm	≈ 84 m²
